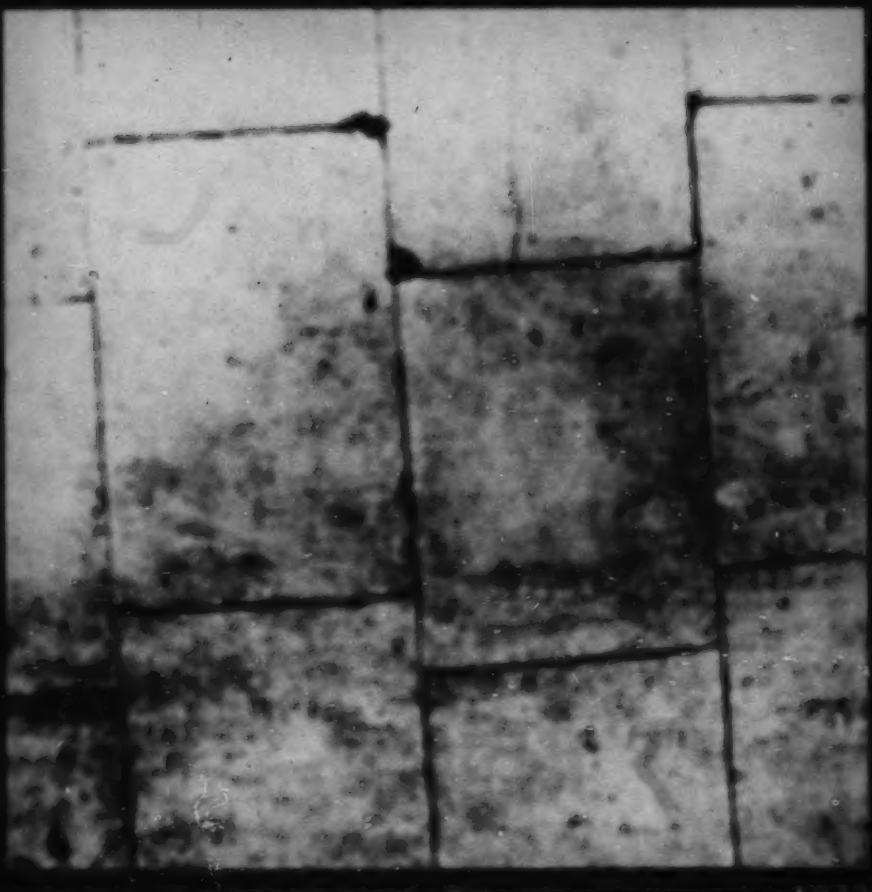
Journey to the Surface of the Earth (continued)

Mark Boyle

Serpentine Gallery
Kensington Gardens, London W2
4 October – 2 November 1975
Daily 10 – 6
Admission free



M. Boyle in the first performance of 'Bodily Fluids and Functions' with Aldis projection of stained cattarrh, Bluecoats, Liverpool. 1966

London Series, street corner study. Earth etc. on fibreglass
183 × 183 cm. Collection Gemeentemuseum, The Hague, Holland 1969

Bodywork. A series of electronmicrophotos of randomly selected squares on the skin of M. Boyle. 1969

City Image (M.H.B.) 1970

M. Boyle in the open-cast mine at Bergheim, W. Germany at one of the randomly selected sites of the World Series.

begun in 1968

Tidal Series. 14 studies of the same square of beach after each tide for 1969

World Series, Skarberget Norway. Leaves etc. on fibreglass
100 × 100 cm. Collection Henie Onstad Foundation, Oslo.

1972

Aldis projection of a live fish on a 15 ft. screen. Detail from 'Insects Reptiles and Water Creatures'. Cochrane Theatre, London. 1966

World Series. Nvord, Denmark. Ploughed field study, earth etc. on fibreglass 183 × 183 cm. Collection Krefeld Museum. 1970

Aldis projection of blood from the event Bodily Fluids and Functions Bluecoats, Liverpool

1966